He went out in the hall and was there awhile and when he can back in he handed her a flip cell phone stating he had found it in the hallway. Employee took the cell phone and placed it in her desk and when it came time to leave as classes were over employee walked out closing and locking the classroom door. As employee got to their car in the parking lot employee started talking to (blank), employee. As they went their separate ways, the suspect approached employee stating he thinks he accidentally left his wallet in the classroom. Employee has a key and went back into the bldg. with suspect following. They looked in the classroom and did not find any wallet. Suspect then asked for the cell phone back stating that it was his. About this time (blank employee) came into the classroom and the suspect said thank you and walked out.
